THE SNOW SHOE REGION

Second Instalment of Historical Sketch.

INTERESTING PLACES

First Settlers of the County—Encounter With a Buck--Panthers at Moshannon Licks--Rattlesnake Den.

WRITTEN BY JAMES GILLILAND

The lands involved in these suits, together with all other lands owned by the Messrs. Gratz in Snow Shoe, are now owned by the Snow Shoe Land Association including the interests of the attorneys of the Gratzes above named.

FIRST SETTLERS.

No permanent settlement was made until the spring of 1818. For a few years previous thereto coal was used in the valleys to a limited extent, and some mining was done by persons who remained no longer than necessary to supply the demands. The first permanent settler was John Betchtol, who went out from Nittany Valley in May, 1818, and built a cabin, in which he died on the 15th day of April, 1842. He raised a family of nine sons and two daughters. Two sons—Jacob and Abraham—and the daughters, and several of his grand-children and great-grandchildren, are residing in the neighborhood where he died. John Betchtol was an honest, peaceable, and industrious citizen; he cleared land and cultivated the soil, raised his own bread, killed his own venison, attended to his own business, and did not interfere with the concerns of his neighbors.

Samuel Askey, from the Bald Eagle Valley, followed Betchtol in September of the same year. He was the son of Captain John Askey, who emigrated from England before the Revolution, and settled in Path Valley. Espousing the cause of freedom, he was appointed a captain, served throughout the war, and soon after his discharge settled in the Bald Eagle Valley, where he died. His son Samuel was fond of hunting game, and frequently followed the Indian path to Snow Shoe on hunting excursions, and thus became familiar with the country, which resulted in making it his home. In the war of 1812 he entered the military service under General Harrison, from which he received an honorable discharge at the expiration of his term, and returned to his home. Much of his time was spent in the forest, and his success in killing game attracted such attention that he acquired fame as a hunter. The Rev. F. B. Boyer, who attended him on his deathbed, published an obituary, from which the following is an extract:

"The life of Mr. Askey, as a pioneer and hunter, will compare with that of Daniel Boone or David Crocket. Many of the most thrilling adventures with, and hair-breadth escapes from, the wild denizens of the forest have been heard from his own lips by the writer. He carried with him to the grave scars, the result of wounds received in several contacts with panthers, in which his life depended on his own presence of mind and the faithfulness of his dog. He killed, during the time he lived in Snow Shoe, sixty-four panthers and ninety-eight wolves (to this the records of the county bear testimony); also about eight hundred deer and a large number of bears, the exact number not recollected. In one season he sold two thousand seven hundred pounds of bear's-meat."

His fame as a hunter was known by the writer long before he became acquainted with him, which was on his first visit to Snow Shoe, in June, 1840. He then heard him relate, in his own terse language and impressive manner, some of his adventures and encounters with wild animals. Afterwards, he was frequently his companion and guide in his explorations of the country, and, travelling over his hunting ground, often pointed to the spot where he had killed a deer or a bear, and to the tree on which he had shot a panther. The following are a few of his adventures, related, as near as can be recollected, in his own words:

ENCOUNTER WITH A BUCK.

When we were travelling through the forest, on the Indian path, he said: "Stop a moment, while I tell you an amusing and ridiculous scrape I had with a big buck near to yonder tree, (pointing to it.) It was a long shot, but when the gun cracked he fell flat in his tracks. Supposing it to be a dead shot, I approached him without any fear of trouble. I had on a loose blouse with wide sleeves. I stooped over him and, with my left hand took hold of a horn, and, with the right, was about to apply the knife to his throat, when, to my utter dismay and astonishment, he jumped up with great violence; a prong of one of his horns went through the blouse, and he gave me a tremendous whirl; in doing so he relieved me of the blouse and departed, leaving me in my shirt-sleeves to look after him going through the brush, at the top of his speed, with the blouse spread out to the wind like the flag of a conquering hero. I did not begrudge him the blouse, because I thought if I had not been relieved of it the result would have been more serious."

PANTHER AT THE MOSHANNON LICKS.

"In watching the Big Moshannon licks, my custom was to start in time to get there before sunset, as I often found deer in about that time. On this occasion I was sliding down the hill, looking out for deer, when I heard a stirring of the leaves behind me, and, looking back over my shoulder, I saw a very large panther sliding after me and about to pounce upon me. Knowing that there was no time to be lost, I quietly and quickly turned half-around and put a bullet plump between his eyes, and he turned over—dead you may well believe to my great joy. My exposure to danger was the more apparent when I discovered that I was within a few feet of the carcass of a deer, covered with leaves, which he was watching—it being one of the occasions when they will attack a man. Venison is a panther's choice meat, and when he kills one, after satisfying his appetite he covers the carcass and lays near, taking his meals regularly until all is consumed or the meat becomes tainted. A panther will not eat tainted meat."

THE PANTHER WITH FOUR PUPS.

"A good tracking snow had fallen. I started with my dog and came on a fresh track between the Mostannons. I tied my dog to my body, so as to keep him with me until the proper time to let him loose. The trail led to a high point, on the brow of the Big Moshannon Hill, which was very steep. Passing in front of a large projecting rock, a huge panther jumped from under upon the dog, and panther, and dog, and myself went down the hill, sometimes the panther uppermost, sometimes the dog, and sometimes myself. The cord being tied with a slip-knot, I succeeded in effecting a separation. The dog and panther went to the foot of the hill, when the panther ran up a tree. I looked around for my gun, which I had let go, and, finding it all right, I went down, and having a fair shot, the panther fell dead to the ground. It was a female, and with indications of having young ones. I returned to the rock; the cavity was large enough to admit my entrance, and I brought out four young panthers as large as full grown cats. After handling them for a short time, they fondled on me like young kittens. It was a hard day's work, but the premiums I received for the scalps rewarded me, but did not compensate me for the disabling of my dog; he was of no use to me afterwards."

RATTLESNAKE DEN.

"Colonel John Holt and myself were returning from the Big Moshannon licks. We had a horse loaded with venison, and when near the top of the hill, on the north side of Little Moshannon, on the Indian path, my dog commenced barking on our left at or near the foot of the hill. I left Holt with the horse, and on my route to the dog, encountered large rocks. I crossed over one and jumped down, some four or five feet, at the lower side, and lit upon ground so thickly covered, for some distance all around, with rattlesnakes, that every step I made I tramped upon them. It seemed to me like tramping over beef entrails on a butchering day They were all moving towards a cavity under the rock. You may be sure I handled myself lively. I escaped from them without injury, excepting a brief sickness of stomach, occasioned by the stench which arose from the snakes. I did not stop to count nor to kill, and have no desire ever to come across another rattlesnake den. I soon found my dog, with a panther on a tree, which I shot, and returned with it to Holt, leaving the snake den off my route."

The incidents connected with the killing of so many wild animals would be interesting and amusing, especially to those who are familiar with the localities where they occurred, and it is a matter of regret that they were not committed to paper while he was living.

He died on the 28th day of May, 1857, at the residence of his son, in Snow Shoe, in the eighty-first year of his age, leaving twelve children, forty-two grandchildren, and five great grandchildren. Mrs. Hinton, (his eldest daughter, and wife of Austin Hinton,) his son William, and several of his grandchildren and great-grandchildren reside in Snow Shoe.

THE ANNUAL RE-UNION

Of the Waddle-Benner-Hamilton Families

THURSDAY, AUGUST 3

Held at the Beautiful Country Home of Mrs. Sarah Williams—A Very Happy Occasion and One Long to be Remembered.

SEVERAL OLD PEOPLE WERE PRESENT.

The annual re-union of the Waddle—Benner—Hamilton families was held on Thursday, August 3rd, at the beautiful country home of Mrs. Sarah Williams on the left bank of Logan Branch near Axe Mann. It was an ideal day for such an event held as it was on the lawn surrounding the residence. The spot is one of the pleasantest and most picturesque in Centre county and the genial hospitality of Mrs. Williams and her family was so hearty and sincere that everyone of the almost seventy-five guests present enjoyed themselves to the uttermost. The writer was indebted to Mr. S. H. Williams for an invitation to be present and he heartily enjoyed himself with no cause for regret at being there. When we reached the Williams home the people were gathering under the trees where a big table fairly groaned under the weight of good things to eat. Gathered with the other guests at the table were three venerable members of the Waddle family, Thomas Waddle, aged 86 years, Mrs. Hannah Hamilton, 89 and Mrs. Sarah Williams in her 83rd year. They all seemed particularly bright and happy being permitted to sit together at the table. These three people are the oldest surviving members of the Waddle family. They are the grand children of Gen. Philip Benner. Gen. Benner was a prominent citizen in Centre county one hundred years ago and was one of the pioneers in the iron business in this section of the state, his iron works being located on Spring creek and being known as Rock Forge. At the re-union Thursday there were present the grand children of both the Benner, Hamilton and Waddle families. The farm on which the reunion was held has been in possession of the Waddle family and their descendants for generations.

After the sumptuous dinner was served the day was delightfully spent in happy reminiscences, music and social intercourse. A picture was taken by Photographer Mallory of those present, all being grouped on the lawn in front of the house.

Next in order was the recital of several original poems by the venerable Thomas Waddle mostly composed by him over 68 years ago which will be published later in this paper. They were very suitable to the occasion and were listened to with great interest by all present the elocution being fine.

Dr. Robert Alexander, of Burnham, being present was called upon for a few remarks. He paid glowing tributes to all in anyways responsible for the days pleasure and especially to the brothers and sisters who had lived to a ripe old age. He also gave much credit to those who had provided the sumptuous dinner and extended the hope that all present might live to see many more such happy re-unions.

Several hymns were sung by Thomas Waddle and sister, and the remainder of the day was spent in pleasant conversation and in the evening the guests returned to their respective homes having passed a most enjoyable day.

Among those present from a distance were Thomas Waddle, son Benner and niece, Miss Blanche Waddle of Jersey Shore; James Waddle and wife of Lock Haven; Charles Wilson of Altoona; D. Bates Bell of Beaver; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Marple and son, Miss Rissa Griffith, Miss Helen Moore. Miss Nellie Millward, Mrs. Clayton Brown of Philadelphia; Mrs. W. T. Lathrop and children of Milesburg, Dr. R. W. Alexander, of Burnham.

Lutz—Bickert.

Miss Kathryn C. Lutz, daughter of J. H. Lutz, was united in marriage Wednesday Aug. 2nd at Huntingdon to Mr. Albert A. Bickert, of that place. After August 9th they will be at home in Huntingdon.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The Business Which Demanded the Attention of the Boro. Fathers.

The Borough Council met on Monday evening at 7:30 with the following members present: Kirk, Brown, Seibert, Wise, Keichline and Keller. In the absence of President Jenkins, the clerk W. T. Kelly called the meeting to order and Harry Keller Esq., was selected as President Pro Tem.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and council then proceeded to business.

Clement Dale Esq., on behalf of the Union cemetery association asked that an alley south of the new section of the cemetery to Wilson street and parallel to High be opened.

The following named have paid $10.00 for tapping the Thomas street sewer since last meeting; W. H. Criseman, Wm. Resner, J. F. Thal, W. T. Speer, Isaac Thomas, H. A. Smith, John Shadle. In addition to this Col. Reynolds paid $10 for tapping High street sewer and John M. Shugert for Centre County Bank $10 for tapping a sewer in Pike alley.

D. F. Fortney boro solicitor submitted an ordinance in regard to dogs running at large in the boro limits. The ordinance was amended on motion of Dr. Kirk seconded by Mr. Keichline which requires the muzzling of dogs all year round. The ordinance, however, failed to pass, Wise, Brown and Seibert voting nay and Kirk and Keichline aye.

Quite a number of sidewalks in Bellefonte were reported in a very bad condition and the property owners will be notified to repair them at once.

The question of opening of an alley 200 feet north of High street and running parallel along High street to Wilson street along Union cemetery property was referred to Street committee with power.

Mr. Keichline made a motion that Geo. R. Meek former Boro treasurer having turned over to the borough all moneys, his hands and the books to his successor therefore his bond to the boro be cancelled and his bondsmen released. The motion was seconded and carried.

A test of the reservoir was made since last meeting and it was found that it leaks on an average of 100,000 gallons a day. The reservoir will have to be cleaned and repaired according to the report.

President Jenkins came in at this point and relieved President Pro Tem Keller.

On motion of Mr. Keller of the finance committe two notes were ordered drawn up to the order of the boro treasurer, one for $6 400 at 1 month and one for $2,000 at 2 months. These notes are to pay overdrafts and other notes due.

The High street bridge over Spring creek is in a bad condition and was complained of. The street committee was ordered to repair it at the least possible cost.

A Pleasant Surprise

Our townsman, Mr. Benjamin Bradley, was very agreeably surprised on Thursday last, by a visit from his brother Thomas Bradley and wife of Buffalo, and his brother-in-law, Mr. Charles Collett of Beeton, Ont. Canada. Mr. Collett and Benj. Bradley were fellow apprentices in England 40 years ago, and their reminiscences are very amusing.

Mr. Collett emigrated to Canada in the year 1870, settling in Aurora, Ont.

He served in the Canadian Militia 20 years, and holds a medal for efficiency and long service, also a medal for service in the northwest rebellion of Riel.

He is now joint proprietor of the Commercial Hotel, Beeton, Ont. Canada.

BUSINESS MEN'S PICNIC.

Committees Met at Bush House Thursday Eve.

PLANNED BIG EVENT

To Be Held at Hecla Park on August 22nd—Amusements Galore--Susquehanna League Ball Game-Lots of Fun Provided.

A SUMPTUOUS BANQUET FOLLOWED

The Business Men's Picnic Association of Centre and Clinton Counties met at the Bush House Thursday evening to complete the arrangements for the big inter-county picnic to be held at Hecla Park August 22nd. If the success of the meeting last night is a fair augury the Business Men's Picnic this year will be the greatest in the history of the association.

The Clinton county delegation arrived in town at 5:20 and proceeded to the Bush House where they were met by the Bellefonte members of the Association who after extending to them a hearty greeting escorted them to the pleasant parlors on the second floor of the Bush House facing the creek where they proceeded to get down to business. P. P. Rittman was in the chair with Secretary J. Clvin Meyer in his accustomed place. Those present were P. P. Rittman, George W. Mason, A. L. Merril, G W. Fredericks, George W A. MacDonald, H. C Evans Fred Brown, C. T. Rothrock, C. S Suiter of the Express and D. L Mc Naul of the Democrat; all of Lock Haven.

Frank Warfield, J. C. Meyer, Philip D. Foster, H. P. Harris, Sidney Krumrine, John M. Bullock, John I. Olewine, John D Sourbeck, Hammond Sechler, A. C. Mingle, Frank Naginey, J. Will Conley, T. H Harter, Gazette; Chas. R. Kurtz, Centre Democrat; George R. Meek, Watchman; Earle C. Tuten, Bellefonte Republican, all of Bellefonte T. J. Smull, of Mackeyville; M. D. Kelley, of Snow Shoe; Capt. S. H. Bennison, of Abderia; O. E Miles, of Milesburg; D. H Stoner, of Mill Hall.

After roll call the reports of the different committees were received. The financial committee reported that they had held a meeting in Gen. Beaver's office July 14th and had secured an appropriation of $750 divided as follows: Printing, $50, music, two bands and orchestra, $90. Inter county clay pigeon shoot $35, Fire works at night $75, amusements $150, ball game $200, entertainment $150,

Messrs. Sourbeck and Krumrine, of the amusement committee submitted a contract ready for approval with the Susquehanna League base ball teams Sunbury and Mt. Carmel, whereby we will have a championship league game at Hecla Park on the 22nd. It was approved by the Business Men's Picnic Association after some discussion which will be good news for the base ball enthusiasts as they will be sure of a good ball game.

Phil. D. Foster proposed a tug-of-war between Centre and Clinton counties, six men to be chosen from each county. Democratic County Chairman G. W. MacDonald, will select six of the brawniest men in Clinton county to pull against Republican Chairman Foster's six from old Centre. It was decided to have the tug-of-war.

Another novel amusement provided is a diving for money feature. Two boats will be rowed out into the middle of the lake. There will be several boys in each boat. Five dollars in halves and quarters will be thrown to the bottom of the lake and the boys will dive for the money.

In the evening there will be a big display of fire works under the supervision of John D. Sourbeck, of Bellefonte.

Then there will be a clay pigeon shoot between marksmen from Centre and Clinton counties. Philip S. Kift will have charge of the Clinton county marksmen and H. P. Harris for Centre county.

Closing cards will be furnished on application to all business places who desire to close on Picnic day,

The bands to be present are the Lockport and the Coleville. The Germania orchestra from Lock Haven will furnish music for dancing.

This completed the business before the association and about 7:30 they all repaired to the dining room where Landlord Daggett had prepared a splendid banquet The guests 33 in number were seated around a long table in the centre of the spacious dining room. The table decorations were simply beautiful. In the centre were great bunches of beautiful flowers which with lighted candelbra and handsome china made the scene brilliant indeed. The menu was an elaborate one, deliciously cooked food with prompt and efficient service made a treat that will long be remembered by those so fortunate as to be present.

At the close of the banquet a vote of thanks was extended not only to Mr. Frank Warfield but also to the hotel management for the delightful feast.

THE CENTRE COUNTY FAIR.

Some Fine Amusements Provided for This Year.

The fact that the directors of the Centre County Fair Association have thus early begun preparations for their annual exposition on October 3, 4, 5 and 6th next is evidence that when the fall days come and the harvests are over something bigger and better than ever will be presented to the public. Two weeks ago we announced the establishment of a new feature in the townships competitive exhibits, which of itself, if carried out along the plans proposed will make one of the most exhaustive and interesting exhibits ever made in the county, but it will be only one of three new and novel features for the great fair. The other two will be equally entertaining if not as instructive. One of them will be.

A COUNTY RACE

It has long been the desire of the directors to bring together the good driving or road horses of which the county boasts so many, and looking to that event it has been finally arranged to have a county race, open for all horses in the county outside of Bellefonte and Philipsburg, that have never been raced on a track. No entrance fee will be charged for this event and the prizes offered will be a fine set of driving harness, a handsome blanket and a whip.

No conditions other than that the horses must be owned by their drivers, and that they have never been entered in a race for money will be imposed.

Already a number of gentlemen in the county have signified their intention of entering this contest and it is expected that it will prove intensely interesting. It has not been definitely decided upon which day of the fair it will be held, but those desiring to enter should write to Mr. D. G. Stewart, the track secretary, Bellefonte, Pa., as early as possible. The third event proposed will be a

COUNTY BAND CONTEST.

This will be one of the feature attractions of the fair this year and will be open to every band in the county without entrance fees.

In order that all bands will have a fair chance at the large cash prizes to be offered they will be classified, according to their standing; making two or three classes and the same selections, suitable to the classes, will be sent to each band. For each class the same prize will be offered and it is desired that the bands desiring to enter will address Geo. R. Meek, the secretary in charge at once, for details of the plans for the contest.

These three new events, in addition to the usual attractions offered by the Fair Association will undoubtedly make the forth coming exposition the greatest ever held in the county.

Already the grounds are beginning to show the result of the work that is being put on them and by fair time you will be surprised at their beauty. When the people of Centre county come to realize what a great institution for education and amusement the Centre County Fair is destined to be, they will join in with the spirit of the enterprise and help to make it the great gala event of the year.

Railroaders Kill Rattler.

Wednesday, while General Foreman R. G. Cullivan was walking from the engine house to the shop at Avis he was startled by the rattle of a snake, almost under his feet. He seized a spike, and commenced what proved to be a serious battle lasting fully twenty minutes. The snake was in deep grass and showed fight, making several strikes at its assailant, but finally with the help of General Engine House Foreman Whipple, was laid low. It measured four feet three inches, and sported twelve rattles.

M. WITTE IS HERE!

Arrived in New York on the Kaiser William

MET BY BARON ROSEN

And Several Other Russian Officials Who Are Stationed in Different Parts of the Country.

GREAT CROWD WAS AT THE DOCK.

New York, August 3.—Sergius Witte, the Russian peace plenipotentiary, on his arrival here Wednesday afternoon, emphatically denied having said that Japan's peace terms were intolerable. He also denied positively that he had predicted that the conference would break up in a week

New York, August 3.—Clothed with plenary powers, personally prepared and signed by his sovereign, Sergius Witte, Russia's ranking plenipotentiary to the Washington conference, landed here Wednesday from the Kaiser Wilhelm Der Grosse as quietly and democratically as the most humble of his fellow passengers. Mr. Lodygensky, the Russian Counsel General, went down the harbor in a revenue cutter Wednesday morning officially to meet the distinguished envoy and was received by Mr. Witte on deck while the Kaiser Wilhelm was at quarantine.

Accompanying the Consul General was Baron Schlippenbach, Russian Consul General at Chicago, Baron Schilling, Russian Vice Consul at New York, and Mr. Wilankine, Russian financial agent at Washington, who was the bearer of important dispatches from St. Petersburg to Mr. Witte, which the latter promptly opened, read and quietly put in his pocket.

BARON ROSEN AWAITED HIM.

Awaiting Mr. Witte at the dock was Baron Rosen, Russian Ambassador at Washington, with his First Secretary of Embassy, Mr. Hansen. Baron Rosen came on board as soon as the ship reached the dock and cordially greeted his conferee and the member of his suite. After ten minutes conversation, during which the majority of the passengers landed, Mr. Witte came down the gang plank on the arm of Baron Rosen, followed by his suite, but soon found his passage impeded by a tremendous crowd who cheered him and whose greetings Mr. Witte smilingly acknowledged by repeatedly lifting his hat. Several policemen soon came to his rescue and clearing a passage to the automobile which was awaiting the party outside the dock.

Midway down the pier the procession was again stopped, this time, however, by a delegation from the Slavis society of New York, who presented Mr. Witte with an address. The Russian envoy made a brief but cordial response, thanking the society for its greeting and also for the cordial welcome he had received from a delegation which boarded the Kaiser Wilhelm off Quarantine Wednesday morning, having gone down the harbor on a tug which flew the Russian flag.

ENJOYED TRIP UP HARBOR.

Mr. Witte enjoyed his trip up the harbor. He mingled freely with the hundreds of passengers who crowded the deck of the great ship and although at all times the centre of attraction he seemed to be quite unaware of it. It was a beautiful day, and the Russian envoy got his first glimpse of the metropolis of New World under most favorable conditions.

So on after the ship left Quarantine Mr. Witte, surrounded by a large group of newspaper men, who came down the harbor on the revenue cutter and by as many of the passengers and as could crowd around him, called to his side Professor De Martens, a member of his suite, and handed to him a statement with the direction that he deliver it in English as the greeting of Mr. Witte upon his arrival in this county. Professor De Martens read the greeting in a clear voice and at its conclusion Mr. Witte received a hearty ovation, which evidently pleased him and which he acknowledged by several bows and then walked away to another side of the ship to look at the Statue of Liberty.

As Mr. Witte does not speak English he was not pressed for an inverview, but the members of his party were each approached for their views about the negotiations. Naturally on a subject of such delicacy they were reticent, but this much was ascertained beyond a doubt:

"I cured MY cough with German Syrup!"
He wrote to Dr. G. G. Green;
"An' as true as I tell you, doctor dear,
I'm feelin' finer than ever I've been!"

The poor consumptive should not be the victim of experiment, as he often is, but the moment the dread disease manifests its presence he should be given Boschee's German Syrup—a pure, non-alcoholic medicine that is made specially for the cure of consumption, and has a world-wide fame as a certain remedy for catarrh, colds, coughs, croup, sore throat and all bronchial affections in old and young.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutions cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

A FOREST FIRE.

By JOHN S. WILLIAMS.

[This fire was actually witnessed by the author in the manner described.]

It was a beautiful June day. Toward the North was an Indian village with a panorama of dogs, ponies, women, children and a few men; toward the south and west were unbroken, primeval pine forests; away to the southeast was a great cloud of white smoke, boiling up into the air as if the world were on fire.

While I was watching the antics of some dogs an Indian came running up and said.

"Waugh! Big fire! Want see?"

I sprang to my feet and answered in the affirmative. The Indian beckoned and said: "Come!"

The lake (Nett Lake, Minn.) was two hundred yards away, but we soon covered the distance We sprang into a birch bark canoe and went skimming over the water with the speed of the wind.

The Indian did the rowing and it was a pleasure to see him ply the paddle. His dull, copper colored arms, bared to the elbows, were a net work of muscles almost as hard as iron.

As we flew along I took in the scenery. Here and there was a loon, a great aquatic bird, bobbing on the gently rolling surface for an instant, when—flap went his little short wings and out went his little short legs, and presto, he disappeared beneath the surface.

Over to the left was a great flock of wild ducks, surrounded by a skirmishing line of old drakes, whose incessant "quack, quack," was almost unbearable. Soon we were skimming through a patch of wild rice and yonder to the right wriggled a flock of downy little wild ducks. There was a great flapping of little wings and kicking of little red legs and millions of shrill little "peep, peeps," that made the air hideous.

Now it was a flock of noisy crows on a sandbar to the left, quarreling over some dead fish that had been washed ashore.

Yonder, to the northeast, a quarter of a mile away, a red deer came bounding through the shrubbery as if pursued by all the dusky hunters of the village, while from aloft a bald eagle looked down upon the scene.

"Waugh!" said the Indian.

This means "look out," and indeed the warning was necessary, for, as he spoke, he gave one mighty sweep with his oar to the left, which turned our frail craft almost completely around and shot it, at least twenty yards, up into the mouth of a little river.

The scene now changed. There was nothing to see but tall grass and reeds and a little, crooked, black line running between, which, for courtesy, I have called a river. For the next few minutes I watched the great cloud of smoke, rising almost directly in front, and only half a mile away. It seemed as if the world were being consumed. A few more sweeps of the oar, and we was directly in front of the fire.

"Ugh! See 'em fire?"

Yes, I saw it, in all of its fearful glory, great billows of flame, swelling and tossing, seething, crackling, destroying.

"Waugh!"

The nose of our canoe was now resting on the shore. We quickly landed and the Indian dragged it out of the water where we left it lying in the tall grass.

We tore our way through the tangle of grass and reeds that fringed the river, ran down a little hill and up the opposite side, where we climbed upon the flat top of a large rock.

In front was a ravine, to the right the fire, while to the left was a small grove. The long ridge upon which this grove stood skirted the ravine on one side and a large plot of marshy grass land on the other.

"Waugh! Watch, see something" tree, standing all alone, about thirty yards from the main forest. 'Surely," thought I, "those flames will spare that one." But not so. A great, red flash leaped down from the seething forest, caught this lone tree by the lower branches, ran its full length, jumped off at the top and spent its fury in the air.

In almost a twinkling, the old tree was a blackened trunk.

"Waugh! Look."

At that moment a moose tore his way out of the burning forest. He sprang across the ravine in three jumps, his long, sharp hoofs kicking up clouds of sand and gravel at every leap, and disappeared in the grove to the left.

Next came the three wolves, with great, red tongues hanging out of their mouths.

Then came five deer, with tails up and antlers lying back upon their necks and shoulders. They passed so quickly that they might be described as "a flash and a vanish."

They were followed by an old doe and her fawn. The little fawn was very much frightened. It kept running around its mother, beneath her, and between her fore legs, again and again. The mother seemed much vexed, and kept pushing it with her nose, meanwhile stamping her feet viciously.

"Ugh! Me scare 'em," said the Indian, jumping down from the rock. As he ran toward them, the old deer lowered her head and uttered a low sound, which brought the fawn to its senses. It seemed to understand, for the first time, what was expected of it, and almost flew across the ravine, disappearing in a thicket of hazel, pussy willow and young birch, that lay at the northern end of the grove,

The mother followed close after it and went bounding through the thicket like a dog chasing a rabbit through a wheat field.

"Waugh!"

This exclaimation from the Indian caused me to turn my head in the direction of the fire, and here came three bears, two black ones and a brown one. The brown one seemed to be on fire He came rolling and tumbling, growling and snarling and snatching at his furry coat with tooth and nail. Doubtless some burning brands had fallen upon him, as he rolled down the hill. When they reached the bottom of the ravine, they all tumbled into one growling, snarling mass of black and brown fur.

The Indian suddenly threw his head back and uttered a loud whoop—a regular war whoop. This startled the bears and they fell apart as if by magic and sneaked up the ridge.

"Ugh! no more all gone," said the Indian.

There was nothing to watch now but the fire. On it came in one grand sweep of lurid destruction. I wondered whether it would leap across the ravine and destroy the grove on the other side,

When it reached the edge of the forest, one great sheet of flame leaped out but fell short. Another tried it but did not quite make it. A third effort was successful, and the great ocean of fire swept across and caught in the branches on the other side. The little grove was soon destroyed, and the fire, for want of something to feed upon, died out.

There was nothing to see now but blackened trunks and branches, with little wreaths of smoke curling up here and there in the wake of the fire, and a great cloud of smoke being driven before the wind toward the northeast.—The Little Chronicle.

A New Corn Pest.

George W. McEwen, who owns and cultivates the island opposite Milton, took to the office of the Standard a worm that is doing very serious damage in his corn patch. The specimen he brought in was about two inches long, and had a head shaped like an alligator—indeed it appears to have two heads—one at each end It cuts off the ear inside the hush almost as smoothly as though it had been done with a knife. Mr. McEwen is going to collect several specimens and send them to Prof. Surface, the state zoologist.

Hicks on August Weather.

The first storm period extends from the 4th to the 8th, having its centre on the 6th. Storm conditions, in the form of falling barometer, increasing humidity and warmth, with growing cloudiness, will appear as early as the 4th. Storms and thunder gusts will follow in western sections, and during the 5th to about the 7th these disturbances will pass over the country in their eastward sweep. Rising barometer will succeed these storms, bringing change to cooler from about the 7th to 10th.

The second storm period is central on the 11th and 12th. The indications are for only moderate barometric and other changes at this time. Threatening clouds with thunder gusts may show themselves over scattering localities, but generally the weather will remain warm and dry. Unsettled and threatening conditions will increase on touching the 14th.

The third storm period is central on the 17th, reaching normally from the 15th to the 20th. It is quite probable that this period will open with barometer very low and storms will be forming in western regions as early as the 14th to 15th. During the 16th to 19th very general and forcible storms will pass eastwardly across the country. A decidedly high barometer and change to cooler will follow the western flank of these storms.

The fourth storm period is central on the 22nd, 23rd and 24th. Low barometer and vicious electrical storms will be very natural during the first stages of this period, but sudden changes to high barometer and much cooler will press the western side of the storm area. There is danger that these very sudden revulsions to cooler late in August will be followed by frosts in northern extremes.

The fifth storm period is central on the 29th, covering the 27th to the 31st. As early as the 27th and 28th barometric warnings of gathering storms will be noted in many parts of this and other countries. Equinoctial, or West India storms and hurricanes will almost certainly develop at this time and reach the gulf and Atlantic coast regions the last days of August. The crisis of this period will not be over forty-eight hours from 6 o'clock p. m. on the 30th. A very menacing barometric condition will lead up to the 30th, the temperature will be excessively high over most sections, and many storms of rain and thunder and hail, attended by violent, tornadic gales, will pass over wide areas of the interior parts of the country. The storms of this period will continue into the opening days of September. A pronounced rise of the barometer will come from the northwest at the breakup of this period, pushing violent gales down over the great lakes, and bringing such extreme change to cooler as to give frosty nights in northern to central parts of the country.

Another proof, some more evidence, Bellefonte testimony to swell the long list of advocates who endorse the old Quaker remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this convicting endorsement of the claims made for that remarkable preparation:

Mrs. Emma J. Davis, of 246 E. Logan St., says: "I have a great deal of confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills, and have already recommended them in a published testimonial in 1897. I told how I had been relieved of kidney complaint and backache which had kept me suffering for years. Doan's Kidney Pills did this for me when other remedies had failed. You who have been reading the daily papers can easily imagine how the thought came to the author's mind to write this story. Vin-te-na has cured so many people in so many parts of the country that it is really unjust to predict a failure in any case that has gone beyond the power of medicine.

Vin-te-na purifies the blood and makes the nerves strong and steady. It not only cures disease but safeguards the system against every form of germ disease. Most all diseases are rooted in the blood. WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8th.

Considerable talk has been made over the alleged refusal of President Roosevelt to participate in the coming reciprocity congress. This is based almost entirely on either misapprehension or a distortion of facts. The President's views on reciprocity are well known and the same views were held by McKinley and before him by Blaine. The President's earnest interest in the matter was shown by the reciprocity treaties which he negotiated and sent to Congress and which were killed by the Senate. Capital is now being made out of the thatement that the whole of the administration is against the reciprocity congress and that its indifference has become a matter of "active hostility." This is not true. The President at Oyster Bay has had his hands full recently with bots the peace envoys and the troubles in the Agricultural department. But he has made time to receive the president of congress and whatever the administration can properly do toward furthering the work it may be depended on to do. This is a very delicate time, however, to go into reciprocity matters at all. The congress claims to be on a strictly non-partisan basis, but it is hardly likely that the discussion will end without politics being largely injected into it. Neither the president nor the cabinet want to get mixed up in a political matter of that sort just now, but it is quite certain that if the congress succeeds in doing anything practical it will have the warm support of the executive during the coming session of Congress. Matters abroad are rapidly shaping themselves so that there will have to be some action on expiting treaties and on the threatened discriminating duties against the United States and if action settling the matter on an equitable basis is not taken during the coming winter, it will be the fault of Congress and not for lack of interest on the part of the executive.

The movement to secure foreign laborers for Panama has come to a temporary halt. It will be remembered that it was originally decided to advertise for 2,000 laborers each from Italy, China and Japan. None of these governments came out with open objection to the project but quietly threw a number of obstacles in the way and finally Japan was stated to have declared that she would hinder in any way the participation of her subjects in such an enterprise because of the bad sanitary conditions prevailing on the isthmus. It did seem a little hard at the time for a nation that only a few years back was only just beginning to read, so to speak, to be lecturing the American government on the subject of modern hygiene. But it will also be recalled that the objection of the Japanese government was based on a report that was made before the American administration had fairly taken hold of the matter. It is stated at the Canal Commission that the objection of the Japanese government is groundless. Its sanitary experts were sent to the isthmus months ago and while their report was decidedly adverse, the conditions there have materially changed and there is now nothing for the Japanese to fear. However, it is quite possible that the plan of engaging oriental laborers will be dropped altogether and the canal may after all be dug by native labor reinforced by workers from the adjacent islands who are acquainted with the climate and will rather improve their condition than otherwise by going into the canal zone.

A special sub committee of the joint army and navy board on seacoast defenses will soon part for a personal inspection of the various seaports of the country where works are contemplated or in course of construction. The joint board was appointed by the president with a view to revising the plans of the Endicott board. The committee consists of Maj. Gen. J. P. Story, retired; Gen. Alexander Mackenzie, chief of engineers; Gen. William Crozier, chief of ordinance; Gen. A. W. Greely, chief signal officer; Gen. Samuel Mills, chief of artillery; Maj. Geo. W. Goethals, corps of engineers, all of the army, and Capt. Sperry of the navy. The committee with the exception of Gen. Greely, who is now in Alaska, will meet in Boston next week and after visiting the fortifications there will go to Portland, Maine, and to some other points. Later in the season they will go to the Pacific coast to inspect the fortifications at San Francisco and San Diego.

TO BE COMPLETED IN NINETY DAYS.

Work on New Y. M. C. A. to be Pushed Forward at Once.

Mr. J. B. Carrothers, of Harrisburg one of the Field Secretaries of the State Y. M. C. A. of Penna., has been in town since last Friday conferring with the officers of the local Association in regard to some plan by which their home on High street could be gotten ready for occupancy. At a well attended meeting of the Trustees and Directors held Thurday night, a plan was adopted by which it is possible to complete the building and have it ready for occupancy in about 90 days. Mr. Gault, the contractor, started work this Monday morning and it is a cause for gratification that no more delay will be experienced in getting this work, which is so much needed, under way. Those friends, who have felt some doubt as to whether the building would ever be finished and who have accordingly held back payment of their subscriptions, should respond willingly when called upon by the Association officers, as they will be soon. Much interest is manifested on the part of young men who are not now connected with the Association, and the General Secretary has daily inquiries from such who wish to join as soon as the building is completed.

The day was plessantly spent in the woods and all enjoyed the warm hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Beck.

A TRIP ACROSS THE ROCKIES.

Interesting Letter From Miss Katherine Buck of Unionville.

We left Denver at 8 30 a. m. July 27th. on the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, and from the moment the train left the station until dark, which was about 8:30 in the evening, mountain time, every moment kept our enthusiasm at its height. Fortunately for some of us who wanted to see all one pair of eyes could see, we slept a good deal during the less interesting part of our trip, finishing with a good nights sleep and rest at Denver, and were in good shape for a day of wonderful sights. As our train of fifteen cars and two engines pulled out of Denver the snow capped mountains came into view on our right, and while there was much that was interesting in the valleys the mountains held first place. Oh those Rockies, the Royal Rockies. Travelers before us have tried to describe them and gave up in despair, so our task is hopeless In going from Denver to Colorado Springs, a distance of 75 miles we loose sight of snow capped peaks only at short intervals, we see not only a single snow capped mountain here and there but a whole range called the "snowy range." The most popular single peak is Pikes Peak, at Colorado Springs. It was discovered in 1806 by Lieut. Zebulon Pike. Its altitude is 14.147 feet and its summit is reached by a cog-wheel railroad from Manito, at the base of the mountain. The former U. S. signal station has been rebuilt into a hotel.

We reached Pueblo, forty-five miles south of Colorado Springs at noon, the commercial and manufacturing centre of Southern Colorado. A live city full of enterprise and push, the Pittsburg of the West. Near about two o'clock we reached Canon City, so called because it stands at the entrance of the Grand Canon of the Arkansas. Now we begin to realize that the best is coming for we are soon to enter the Royal Gorge of the Grand Canon. Awe inspiring and overpowering is its effect upon the beholder. It is a mighty fissure in the living rock fifty feet wide at the bottom and seventy-five at the top. The walls of the Canon rise a sheer 3,000 feet above the level of the river that runs and swirls at your left hand. As the roads curves this way then that, the picture changes continually. It s no wonder that imagination is staggerd the mind wearied with the effort to comprehend the sublimity of the scene as we gaze at this miracle in rock. At the western end of the Gorge we cross the hanging bridge fifty feet long, and said to be the only one of its kind in the world. It hangs over the Arkansas river fastened to the rock on both sides. After leaving the Royal Gorge a scene indescribably grand bursts into view and continues until dark, but changing, changing every moment. Range after range with snow capped peaks; some almost covered with the beautiful white snow, gleaming white against the blue sky. One gigantic fellow shaped like an inverted sponge cake was all covered over with snow that had just fallen and it was still snowing. This with a half dozen or more of snowy mountains on each side of it, made one of the grandest sights we ever saw in mid summer. The large and small patches of snow one sees on the Rockies are gorges anywhere from four to twenty feet deep and filled with snow the year around.

At Gennessee Pass we reached the highest point in our road, 10240 feet, and while the train stopped we left our car and walked around just to get a good long breath of cold snowy Rocky Mountain air; we could not have stood it long without a coat, but such air; we have breathed sweet pure invigorating air before but never any like that. After leaving one of our engines at Gennessee Pass we went through a half mile tunnel and frost formed on the out side of our windows going through. After this it was down grade and the way that train did fly made us thankful we were christians. More wonderful still and more thrilling grew the scenes as our train rounded curve after curve bringing into view a green valley on this side and snow capped mountains on that, then distant mountains on both, and the next a wall of granite on both sides close to our car, with a snake like stream twisting and splashing over and areund the smothly washed stones, with here and there a little waterfall. At one point you get a glimpse of the "Mount of the Holy Cross" so called because a long streak of snow is crossed by a shorter one forming a perfect cross. Then came another gorge, and if you opened your window and lay your head on the window sill and looked straight up to the sky you could see, I can't tell how many feet, straight up a wall of granite, little miner's cabins on the very edge of the cliffs, and here and there all over the sides of the cliffs little square openings which you at once recognize as openings into mines, and some miner's cabins at the foot, on the banks of one of the liviest, clearest, tumbling, crooked and pretty trout streams we ever saw, and we saw the trout too in the water. Darkness now overtook us and we passed through a more wonderful Canon after dark, but we expect to pass through it in day light on our home trip and will describe the Eagle Canon in another letter. Salona Methodists Have Good Cause for Rejoicing.

The reopening services of the Salona Methodist Episcopal church were held Sunday. Besides the pastor, Rev. I. J. Reeser, Rev. W. P. Shriner, D D., of Carlisle; Rev. Samuel Creighton, of Mackeyville; Rev. H. C. Holloway, D. D., of Bellefonte; Rev. D. M. Grover, of Flemington, and Rev. B. B. Uhl, pastor of the Lutheran church at Salona, were present. Dr. Shriner occupied the pulpit both morning and evening and Dr. Holloway, Rev. Creighton and Rev. Uhl spoke at the afternoon service.

In the morning Dr. Shriner took for his subject, "What is Life," and in the evening he spoke from the text, "The fool hath said in his heart, there is no God."

The auditorium of the new edifice was filled to overflowing at all the sessions of the day.

The remodeled place of worship is a model of neatness and convenience and cost $5,317.15. When the rededication morning arrived the trustees showed a balance of $720 needed to pay off the expenses of the late repairs. The congregation decided to ask for contributions amounting to $800. An effort was made to raise the balance and at the close of the evening session it was announced that $1,109 had been paid and promised, which when paid will leave a good balance in the treasury.

Everyone in attendance was highly pleased and greatly edified by the able sermons preached by the distinguished divine, Rev. Shriner.

CLEMENTINA GONZALES,
OF CENTRAL AMERICA,
RESTORED TO HEALTH.
PE-RU-NA THE REMEDY.

Miss Clementina Gonzales, Hotel Provincia, Guatemala, C. A., in a recent letter from 247 Cleveland Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I took Peruna for a worn-out condition. I was so run down that I could not sleep at night, had no appetite and felt tired in the morning.

"I tried many tonics, but Peruna was the only thing which helped me in the least. After I had taken but a half bottle I felt much better. I continued its use for three weeks and I was completely restored to health, and was able to take up my studies which I had been forced to drop. There is nothing better than Peruna to build up the system."—Clementina Gonzales.

BIG PICNIC AT BAILEYVILLE.

Presbyterians Have a Successful Outing in Beautiful Grove.

On Saturday Aug. 5th the Presbyterians of Baileyville held an immense picnic in the beautiful grove at that place. Every year an outing of this kind is held at Baileyville under the auspices of some church or organization and it is always a success, people attending from far and near This year was no exception to the rule as fully 3000 people were scattered over the grounds when the picnic was at its height. The proceeds were for the repairs of the Presbyterian church at Baileyville and they must have realized a large sum as over one hundred gallons of ice cream alone were sold during the day.

The amusements of the day consisted of base ball games and band concerts. The Pennsylvania Furnace band furnished the music for the day.

When the noon hour arrived it was a pretty sight to see the different groups of people scattered all over the ground enjoying their dinners. The writer had the pleasure of accepting an invitation to take dinner with J. G. Heberling of Pine Grove Mills, It was the good old fashioned country dinner served out in the woods and all the good things imaginable were to be had. It was certainly highly enjoyed by the writer who feels greatly indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Heberling for their thoughtfulness.

The committee in charge of the picnic were Harry McCracken, Warren Ward, Samuel Frank and their subordinates.

Attach Bank Account of Lunatic for Keep.

Because William Yeager, an inmate of the insane asylum at Danville, has by false pretense been a charge upon Snyder county for nine years, Sheriff Sampsell has served notice on the Sunbury Safe and Trust Deposit company to recover $1,234, that being the amount due the state for board. Yeager who was a resident of the township of Beaver, in Snyder county, and a veteran of the Civil war, a pensioner at the rate of $30 per month, suffered much ridicule from neighbors and according to Sheriff Sampsell once threatened to kill a person. Because of this and other irrational actions, he was, in 1897, declared by the courts of Snyder county to be a lunatic. Proceedings was thereupon instituted to place him in the insane asylum at Danville. He was admitted as a pauper, costing Snyder county $1 75 a week for board. It has been discovered that the Sunbury Trust and Safe Deposit company, as his trustee, hold for Yeager more than $4,000, the secret accumulation of pensions R. S. Ammerman, member of the legislature from Montour county, attorney, also, for the trustees of the Danville asylum, has served notice on the commissioners of Snyder county to show cause why Snyder county authorities should continue their support to the maintenance of said Yeager in the asylum, in the asylum, in the fact of the fact that he has ample means, not only to pay his future support, but also to reimburse the county and state for what money have already been paid in his behalf. An effort will be made to learn who it was that had Yeager admitted as a pauper. The holding of the supposed pauper's wealth by the Trust company has caused much heated talk, because Yeager should have paid $5 a week board, that being the rate for self-supporting inmates.

—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bryan, of North Spring street, are rejoicing over the arrival of a twelve pound baby boy at their home Tuesday. Accept our congratulations.

JOSEPH LOUGHERY.

Killed in a Railroad Accident and Buried at Bellefonte.

Joseph Loughery, formerly of Tyrone, met with a fatal accident at Plainfield, N. J., on Monday. He was a fireman on the Philadelphia & Reading railway, and was injured in a wreck on that road. He died that night at 11 o'clock in the Muhlenberg hospital at Plainfield.

The young man was the son of Edward and Mary Loughery, who recently removed to Tyrone from Bald Eagle where they had resided for many years. He was born at Bald Eagle and was 28 years of age.

The remains were taken to Tyrone and conveyed to the home of his parents. The funeral took place last Thursday morning. After requiem mass at St. Matthew's Catholic church Tyrone at 7 o'clock by Rev. G. M. Kelly, the remains were brought to Bellefonte for burial in St. John's cemetery.

The young man's death is cause for general regret, He is spoken of in the highest terms and the floral tributes received as a mark of esteem were profuse and beautiful.

—Steps have been taken by the board of game commissioners of Pennsylvania to use $6,000 of the state appropriation for preserving game. State land in the Conemaugh valley will probably be fenced off as a preserve, and there the game will be given an opportunity to propagate with immunity from disturbance by hunters. The advocated plan is to fence in a great quantity of land with a single strand of wire. This will be placed a sufficient height to allow smaller animals to pass under and deer to jump over. It is desired to fence off several of these preserves on land owned by the State forestry department, and hunting within the enclosures will be strictly prohibited at all seasons of the year. The state game wardens will be empowered to enforce this regulation, and all offenders are to be rigidly punished. Ex-State Treasurer Frank G. Harris, of Clearfield, W. Heyward Meyers of Williamsport, and Secretary Joseph Kalbfus of the State game commission have been appointed to select sites for the preserves. The idea is commended by hunters all over the State.

—George L. H. Guyer, of Warriorsmark valley, died at the Pennsylvania State hospital at Harrisburg Friday of inflammation of the bowels. The remains were brought to his late home in Warriorsmark valley, where funeral services were held at 9 o'clock Monday morning. Interment was made in the Warriorsmark cemetery. The deceased was a son of the late Rev. George Guyer who was one of the best known pioneer Methodist preachers of Central Pennsylvania. He was born at Warriorsmark September 4, 1850, and had therefore attained an age of nearly 55 years. He always resided in the valley in which he was born, engaging in farming as an occupation; until a few years ago when mental affliction rendered treatment at the state hospital necessary. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. LuEmma Guyer, and their children. Harry, Juliet, George E., J. Raymond, Albert L. and Jean R., all at the family home. He leaves one sister, Mrs. Clark Grazier, of Huntingdon Furnace.

—A government report recently issued in England contains the returns of the navigation through the Suez Canal for 1904. The net tonnage for the year shows an increase of 1,494,547 tons compared with that of 1903, the increase being due from heavy shipments of wheat from India to Europe, and to the large quantities of coal consigned to the East. The latter exceeded the shipments of 1903 by about 500,000 tons. During the year 4,237 vessels passed through the canal, of which 2,679 were British. There was an increase in 1904 of 1,430,376 tons in the tonnage of British vessels as compared with 1903, viz., 7,403,553 tons in 1903 and 8,833,829 tons in 1904. The tonnage of German vessels increased from 1,773,265 tons in 1903 to 1,969,561 tons in 1904. In the year 1870, when the canal was opened, 26,758 civil and military passengers were carried through the canal in 1904 the number was 210,849.

Snow Shoe.

A large crowd attended the M. E. Sunday school picnic held last week in the new driving park. Everybody reported lots to eat and a good time. Among the amusements were foot-races, bag-races and a base ball game.

Quite an excitement was raised in town last week by the report that some ferocious animal was terrorizing the inhabitants at Butts Station. Mr. J. H. Crandall was sent as an expert to determine the identity of the animal and decide upon a plan to capture it. Upon his return he reported that this animal, judging from its great strength, ranked with the lion or tiger. After a long and tedious chase with many hair-breadth escapes, the animal was finally rounded up by the posse. A very close examination was made and it proved to be nothing more than a small half-starved red fox.

The information was made by the present secretary, R. H. Zerby, and sets forth items aggregating over $100,000.

Mr. Platt entered bail for appearance at the August quarter sessions at Bellefonte. He has for many years been one of the foremost citizens of Centre county; he took a prominent part in the politics of this senatorial and congressional district, and was at various times honored by the Republican party.

Husband Kidnapped From Side of Bride.

Clarence Pollard, who was married Wednesday night to Miss Florence L. Rupp, was kidnapped during the reception that followed, and spent the whole night riding about Richmond, Va., in the custody of four of his friends, who were deaf to his entreaties to be allowed to return to his wife.

The ride was prolonged until just after daybreak, and then Pollard, tired and angry, was allowed to go free.

He found his bride waiting.

She had considerately been informed that nothing had happened to her new husband.

This Man was Busy.

Sam Kline, the all-around manager and farmer, tenant on the Crider farm between Howard and Blanchard, has hauled to the barn 5,425 dozen of wheat and 225 loads of hay this harvest. Some days he hauled as high as 22 loads a day. What farmer in Centre county can beat this scrub farm of Bald Eagle valley? asks a correspondent.

Drilling Continues,

Drilling for oil, gas, or anything that may be struck that is valuable, is still going on at Centre Hall. The depth thus far reached by the drill is some 400 feet. Obstacles encountered upon several occasions have greatly retarded the drilling. The depth to be sounded was fixed for 3,000 feet unless "pay dirt" was struck sooner, which would cause rejoicing.

Telephone Pay Station in Country.

The Bell Telephone company is making an experiment in some sections that undoubtedly will become general in the future. It is the placing of automatic pay stations on telephone poles in the country districts. This gives the ruralite an opportunity to send out a message at any time he may see fit, and is also a great advantage to the traveling public, as messages may be sent on ahead, arrangements made to transact business at a certain point or time, etc.

Those Sixty Minutes for Dinner.

Casts Ashes of Man and Wife Into the River.

When Dr. W. H. Heith of Scranton, a veteran of the Mexican war, died February 7, he requested that his ashes be scattered upon the river. His wife died July 30 and left a similar request.

The daughter, a teacher in the Scranton High school, and Dr. Maude Boyer Wednesday met the Rev. Dr. Forrest E. Dager, rector of St. Pauls Reformed Episcopal church of Philadelphia, at the mouth of the Neshaminy creek.

The party rowed to the middle of the Delaware, just opposite Edgewater park, and anchored the boat. The doctor placed the ashes of man and wife together upon a paper and, using a modified form of the burial service, turned the ashes—about three quarts in bulk—into the river.

The ceremony was witnessed by several boatloads of campers.

Does Advertising Pay.

A Texas girl advertised for a husband and got him. The total expenses for advertising, wedding outfit, etc,, were $11. Within a year he died, leaving her an insurance policy of $10,000. And yet some people say it doesn't pay to advertise.

Successful Colored Girls.

Miss Portia M. Washington, daughter of Booker T. Washington, was one of the 25 young women to be graduated from Bradford Academy at Haverhill, Mass., this year. At Cornell the highest honors in the senior class have gone to Miss Jessie R. Fauset, a colored girl, and the only woman student of her race in the college of arts. What makes Miss Fauset's success the more remarkable is that in her course she had to complete with about 100 white students. Miss Washington has been one of the most popular girls at Bradford during the four years she has been there and she expects to go abroad soon to study music in Berlin.

PEACE ENVOYS MEET PRESIDENT.

Meeting of Emissaries at Oyster Bay.

ON THE MAYFLOWER

Simplicity Marked the Occasion, the Only Decorations Being Flowers—The President Offered a Toast for Everlasting Peace.

HE PLEADED FOR TOLERATION.

Oyster Bay, August 7.—History was made Saturday in Oyster Bay. Russians and Japanese clasped hands and greeted one another with an outward evidence of cordiality, and, for the first time since nations began to have relations with one another, an executive of a great power received the envoys of two belligerent countries on a mission of peace.

President Roosevelt, on behalf of the United States and its people, extended formal greetings to the representatives of Russia and Japan, introduced the plenipotentiaries to one another and entertained them at an elaborate luncheon, at which Russians and Japanese fraternized with one another as comrades not as enemies.

During the luncheon President Roosevelt proposed a notable toast in which he expressed the "earnest hope and prayer, on the interest of not only these two great powers, but of all civilized mankind, that a just and lasting peace may speedily be concluded between them,"

The occasion was impressive. It was attended not by pomp and ceremony but by a simplicity and frankness characteristic of the President and the people of America.

Due honor was paid the distinguished guests of the President and of the country and they were received with all the dignity to which their exalted rank entitled them,

The day was ideal. After the sun had burned away the haze of early morning the weather was glorious. A brisk breeze just tipped the waves of Long Island Sound with silver, tempering at the same time the heat of the sun's rays.

The yacht Mayflower, one of the most beautiful vessels of the United States navy, on which the formal reception of the Russians and Japanese plenipotentiaries took place, swung easily at anchor just at the entrance of Oyster Bay. A quarter of a mile away was the dispatch boat Dolphin, the favorite cruising vessel of several Presidents of the United States.

Two miles out in the Sound the cruiser Galveston was anchored, in waiting to convey the vessels bearing the envoys to the seat of the Washington peace conference at Portsmouth, N. H.

The Mayflower is in command of Commander Cameron McR. Winslow, President Roosevelt's naval aide, who was detailed to this duty as a special mark of distinction to the peace commission by the President.

Before the arrival of the President and the envoys the cabins of the Mayflower were handsomely decorated with flowers. The luncheon table in the main saloon was laden with flowers.

The flower used principally in the floral decorations was the gladiolus—a recently created variety known as "American." It is a superb purple blossom, which at first glance gives the observer the impression of a rare orchid.

No attempt was made to decorate the cabins of the vessel with flags, care being exercised in every feature of the ceremony attendant upon the reception not in the slightest way to offend the sensibilities of the guests of the occasion.

ATTENTION VETERANS.

Committee Want Correct Names of Centre County Soldiers.

In order to secure absolute accuracy in the names and spelling thereof on our soldiers' monument, we will publish from time to time the lists of certain companies so as to enable those who are interested to suggest changes in initials or spelling, and also to suggest the names of any persons who may have been omitted from the rolls. This is the last opportunity which will be given to our people and to the survivors or friends of deceased soldiers who served from Centre county to have these names corrected. The Committee, therefore, appeals very earnestly to all who are interested in the subject to carefully scan all the names to ascertain 1st, whether any have been omitted; and 2nd, whether the names of those already contained in the rolls are properly spelled.

It is also very important that the names of soldiers who enlisted in organizations outside of the county or State should be secured, in order that they may find their place among the nation's defenders upon the monument. This is perhaps the most important thing which the Committee has in charge, the organization from our own county being already well known. If, therefore, any person, in or out of the county, has knowledge of a citizen of Centre county who enlisted in organizations outside of the county and State, it is especially important that their names should be ascertained, so that they may find a place among those who enlisted at home.

Any communications in regard to these names addressed to Gen. John I. Curtin or William H. Musser, Bellefonte, will receive prompt attention.

Were Going to Collect Mosquitoes.

Harrisburg, August 4.—Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, state health commissioner, has arranged with an entombologist of the Philadelphia academy of natural sciences to collect mosquitoes along the wharves in the Philadelphia harbor, where vessels carrying fruit are docked for the purpose of ascertaining mosquitoes are reaching Philadelphia.

Jolly Jack Tar.

"Jolly" is the word generally associated with the jack tar. He is the picture of health, and the health bubbles over in mirth and merriment. When people are sick, especially when sickness attacks the lungs the doctor often advises a sea voyage. But in the large majority of cases the sea voyage is impossible.

It is to the men and women of the workaday world to whom sea voyages or change of climate are impossible, that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery comes as the greatest earthly boon. The effect of this medicine upon those whose lungs are "weak" is remarkable. Even where there is bronchitis, spitting of blood, emaciation, weakness, conditions which if unchecked or unskillfully treated lead to consumption, "Golden Medical Discovery" in ninety-eight cases out of a hundred works a perfect and permanent cure. It strengthens the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, so that the body in all its parts is not merely fed but nourished. And it is by nourishment that Nature builds up the body to resist or throw off disease.

"I had a terrible cough something over a year ago and could find nothing to stop it, or even to do me a particle of good," writes J. M. Farr, Esq., of Cameron, Screven Co., Ga. "I chanced to see an advertisement of yours, and forthwith bought a bottle of your invaluable 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Before I had taken half a bottle I was entirely well."

What's the Use.

The worms destroy the apple crop, the oil trust robs the people, the misplaced switch kills the traveler, the cyclone and the flood get in their deadly work, the potato bug eats up the murphys, the striped insects do up the watermellon vine and the chiggers saw your feet off, but don't get sour—keep sweet. Wear your best smile and dandle your heart on your sleeve, for what's the use to worry? Think of it. One hundred brief summers from this you'll be sleeping under where the green grass is waving, and the gentle zephyrs will blow above you, and the mocking birds thrill his notes down by the brooklet's side, and the world will move on just the same. Never grow sour, for what's the use?

A Fatal Explosion.

Two of the children of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Bumgardner, of Winburne, are dead as the result of an accident which happened Monday afternoon about 4 o'clock. Mrs. B. had started the fire with oil to get supper for her husband, and setting the oil can down on the floor hurried out to get coal to put on the burning kindling. While out one of the children picked up the oil can and was in the act of pouring oil on the burning wood when the can exploded. Both children were very badly burned as a result, one of them, aged about 2½ years, dying two hours after, and the other, aged about 6 years, dying Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. It was a very distressing affair, and has elicted much sympathy for the heart-broken parents.

CALIFORNIA

Do you want to live where the climate is mild the year round—where labor is never oppressed by stress of weather, and where animal vitality is never lost by mere conflict with cold?

Do you want to live in a region where the resources are more varied than in any other equal area in the world, where the division of great ranches affords a fine opportunity to get a small farm that will assure you a competence?

Do you want to live where, with a minimum of labor, you can grow profitable crops of grapes and small fruit, oranges, lemons, olives, prunes and almonds, alfalfa and grain, where crops are sure, business is good and capital easily finds profitable investment?

Then go to California, where both health and opportunity await your coming.

The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line is the most direct route to the Pacific Coast, and there are two fast through trains daily via this line, over the famous double-track railway between Chicago and the Missouri River.

Special low round-trip rates are in effect via this line throughout the summer to various Pacific Coast points, and colonist low rate one-way tickets will be on sale during September and October, which give an unusual chance for settlers to make the trip at a minimum of expense.

Daily and personally conducted excursions are operated through to San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Portland without change, on which a double berth in a Pullman tourist sleeping car from Chicago costs only $7.00, via the RUSSIANS QUIT!

Over 3000 of the Garrison of Island of Sakhalin Capitulate

CZAR'S TROOPS ROUTED

Two Field Guns, Many Rifles and a Quantity of Ammunition Were Captured

THEN CAME THE FINAL CAPITULATION

Tokio, Japan, August 5.—A report giving details of the final pursuit and surrender of the majority of the Russian garrison on Sakhalin island, on July 31, has been received as follows:

"An independent cavalry column on the afternoon of July 28 attacked the enemy south of Paleo and routed him, driving him southward, capturing two field guns besides a number of rifles and a quantity of ammunition.

"On July 29 the cavalry, being reinforced, pursued the enemy south of Taylan, which lies twenty-five miles south of Rykoff. The enemy halted at Onol, twenty-five miles south of Taylnn, and on the morning of July 30 sent a letter under a flag of truce to the Japanese commanding officer from General Liapnoff, the Russian governor, saying that the lack of bandages, material and medicines and the consequent inability to succor the wounded, compelled him from a sense of humanity to terminate the hostilities.

"The commander of the Japanese force replied, demanding the delivery of all war supplies and property of the Russian government, uninjured, and the delivery of all maps, records and papers relating to the Russian civil and military administration and requiring their delivery in reply at 10 o'clock on the morning of July 31, otherwise an attacking movement would immediately be started.

"Colonel Tolivitch, on behalf of Governor Liapnoff, met Colonel Koizumi, Japanese chief of staff; on the morning of July 31 and accepted the proposed terms.

"Governor Liapnoff, seventy officers and 3,200 men of the Russian garrison then surrendered.

"The spoils, consisting of clothing, papers and military supplies are now under investigation."

Fiedler's Star Magazine, Williamsport, Penn'a., contains a most excellent descriptive and illustrated article on the construction of the Panama canal. "Around the World With a Camera" is another feature which interests all observing individuals. TRIBUTE TO WILLIAM GRAUER.

New York Life Insurance Company Acknowledges Valuable Service to the Society.

The New York Life Insurance company has issued a circular to its agents detailing the great services of the late William Grauer, of Altoona who was one of the best known and most successful agents employed by that company. Mr. Grauer had been with the company about four and a half years, and during that time he wrote, in personal paid business, 287 policies, carrying an aggregate amount of insurance of $1,997,125. The record is referred to by the company as showing what can be accomplished in a rural district and as a source of inspiration to other agents.

Referring to his death, the circular says: "William Grauer joined the company in January, 1901, at Altoona, Pa, He quickly demonstrated rare insurance ability, produced a large amount of high class business from the start, gained immediate membership in the $200,000 club, renewed that membership each subsequent year; was vice president-at-large in 1903, and, at his death had to his credit so large and fine a business that his chances for the club presidency were most excellent. He was also a drawing Nylic. Mr. Grauer's business was in every case so strongly sold that it stayed and paid and rarely any one of the 273 policies went off the books."

A Very Unique Dun.

A Berwick man owes another Berwick man $10. The other day he got the following unique dun:

"Dearest Brother. If I should die tonight and you should come to my cold, cold corpse, weeping and heart-sick o'er my lifeless clay—

"If I should die tonight and you should come to me in deepest grief and woe and say, 'Here, Ben, is that ten I owe,' I might arise in my large white cravat and say, 'What's that. What's that.

"If I should die tonight and you should come to my cold, cold corpse and kneel clasping my bier to show the grief you feel. I say, if I should die tonight and you should come to me then and just even hint about paying back that ten I might arise awhile, but, then drop dead again."—Bloomsburg Daily.

Timely Advice.

When a severe thunder storm is raging, the safest place is in the open, close to the earth. If the body is erect, it acts as an excellent conductor for the lightening to find its way to the earth. For this reason it is dangerous to take refuge under a tree, says the Buffalo Courier. Doubtless most of the people who perish while under trees would be alive today had they remained in the open. It is also injudicious to huddle under threshing machines; sheds or near flag staff.

Avoid standing in doorways, near chimneys and fireplaces, close to cattle or near the end of a wire clothes line during a thunder storm. On the other hand there is not much sense in going to bed or trying to insulate oneself in feather beds. Small articles of steel or iron, as knife or key, do not attract lightning, as it is popularly believed.

If one has been struck by lightning, the first thing to do is to restore consciousness as lightning oftener brings about suspended animation than somatic death The condition of a person struck by lightning is much the same as that of a person drowning. Try to stimulate respiration and circulation. Do not cease in the effort to restore animation in less than an hour, as you value the life of the sufferer.

Unlawful to Capture Wild Bears.

Some inquiries have been made in reference to the law for the protection of wild bear. An act of the Legislature passed at its last session and approved by the Governor April 22, 1905, provides amongst other things as follows: "It shall be unlawful to kill; take or capture any bear of any description, save only from the first day of October to the first day of March next following. Each and every person who shall kill, take or capture any bear contrary to the provisions of this act, shall be liable on conviction to a penalty of fifty dollars for each bear or cub taken, killed or captured."

are caused by Indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of Indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart.

Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

DON'T BE WOOZY!

NERO

was a most crafty Roman, but he made one mistake.

He committed suicide at the wrong end of his life,

He should have shuffled off at the beginning.

A great many business men today are committing business suicide at the wrong end of their lives.

They mean well at the start, but drift away from their good resolutions

One means of a long and prosperous business life is to have good printing and stationery.

A business is judged by its reading matter.

THE REPUBLICAN

Job Printing Department is prepared to furnish the best.

Cost is a secondary consideration when you consider the quality—sufficient it is to say our prices are so reasonable that it would be a waste of shoe leather to look further.

It has a distinctiveness all its own—a something that distinguishes it from the common trash of the ordinary shop.

Again we say:

"Don't be Woozy."

Think it over and for your next order, remember the Republican

Job Printing

Department.
